Women in New Migrations

Current Debates in European Societies

Krystyna Slany
Maria Kontos
Maria Liapi (Eds.)

2010, p. 330, hardcover
price 9,90 €

The volume offers an overview of research and debates concerning new female migrants in European countries. Despite the effects of globalisation and the Europeanisation both of national migration and integration policies and of studies carried out by transnational research projects, social, economic and political conditions at a national level remain a powerful basis of academic production. Varying conditions for migration and integration and language and cultural specificities create differentiated research and debates.

The contributions in this book show the complexity of the interconnectedness between global and national debates and between feminist and migration discourses, resulting in different outcomes as far as issues of gender and migration are concerned. Analysis of nationally based debates on migration and integration offers an insight into the functioning of different societies, as well as their degree of openness towards new female migrants. This book is a product of the research project “Integration of female immigrants in labour market and society. Policy assessment and policy recommendations” (acronym: FeMiPol) funded by the European Commission within the 6th Framework Programme.

Krystyna Slany, Professor, Head of the Department of Population Studies, Head of Gender Studies at the Institute of Sociology at the Jagiellonian University, Cracow, Poland

Maria Kontos, Senior Research Fellow at the Institute for Social Research at the J.W. Goethe University, Frankfurt am Main and lecturer in sociology at the Goethe University, Germany

Maria Liapi, Sociologist and equality expert, founding member of the Centre for Research on Women’s Issues (Diotima) and a member of its directing board, Athens, Greece

PART I. OLD IMMIGRATION COUNTRIES IN NORTHERN EUROPE
Floya Anthias, Maja Cederberg, Gender, Migration and Work: Perspectives and Debates in the UK
Mirjana Morokvasic, Christine Catarino, Women, Gender, Transnational Migrations and Mobility in France
Maria Kontos, Kyoko Shinozaki, Integration of New Female Migrants in the German Labour Market and Society
Maja Cederberg, Gender (In)equality and Ethnic Boundaries. Gender, Migration and Ethnicity in the Swedish Labour Market and Society

PART II. NEW IMMIGRATION COUNTRIES IN SOUTHERN EUROPE
Giovanna Campani, Gender and Migration in Southern Europe: A Comparative Approach to the Italian and Spanish Cases
Christine Catarino, Ongoing Gendering and Ethnicising Processes: The Case of Recent Female Migration to Portugal
Maria Liapi, Dina Vaiou, Changing Patterns of Female Migration: Greece in a Southern European Perspective
Nicos Trimmikliniotis, Mihaela Fulas-Souroulla, Female Migration and Integration-Related Policies in Cyprus

PART III. NEW IMMIGRATIONS IN TRANSFORMATION SOCIETIES
Krystyna Slany, Agnieszka Malek, Magdalena Ślusarczyk, Changing Patterns of Migration in Poland. Integration of Migrant Women in the Polish Labour Market and Society
Veronika Baji, Mojca Pajnik, Studying Migration in Slovenia: The Need for Tracing Gender

You can order the book on www.wuj.pl
The volume offers an overview of research and debates concerning new female migrants in European countries. Despite the effects of globalisation and the Europeanisation both of national migration and integration policies and of studies carried out by transnational research projects, social, economic and political conditions at a national level remain a powerful basis of academic production. Varying conditions for migration and integration and language and cultural specificities create differentiated research and debates.

The contributions in this book show the complexity of the interconnectedness between global and national debates and between feminist and migration discourses, resulting in different outcomes as far as issues of gender and migration are concerned. Analysis of nationally based debates on migration and integration offers an insight into the functioning of different societies, as well as their degree of openness towards new female migrants. This book is a product of the research project “Integration of female immigrants in labour market and society. Policy assessment and policy recommendations” (acronym: FeMiPol) funded by the European Commission within the 6th Framework Programme.

CONTENTS

PART I. OLD IMMIGRATION COUNTRIES IN NORTHERN EUROPE

Floya Anthias, Maja Cederberg, Gender, Migration and Work: Perspectives and Debates in the UK

Mirjana Morekvasic, Christine Catarino, Women, Gender, Transnational Migrations and Mobility in France

Maria Kontos, Kyoko Shinozaki, Integration of New Female Migrants in the German Labour Market and Society

Maja Cederberg, Gender (In)equality and Ethnic Boundaries. Gender, Migration and Ethnicity in the Swedish Labour Market and Society

PART II. NEW IMMIGRATION COUNTRIES IN SOUTHERN EUROPE

Giovanna Campani, Gender and Migration in Southern Europe: A Comparative Approach to the Italian and Spanish Cases

Christine Catarino, Ongoing Gendering and Ethnicising Processes: The Case of Recent Female Migration to Portugal

Maria Liapi, Dina Vaiou, Changing Patterns of Female Migration: Greece in a Southern European Perspective

Nicos Trimikliniotis, Mihalea Fulas-Souroulla, Female Migration and Integration-Related Policies in Cyprus

PART III. NEW IMMIGRATIONS IN TRANSFORMATION SOCIETIES

Krystyna Slany, Agnieszka Malek, Magdalena Ślusarczyk, Changing Patterns of Migration in Poland. Integration of Migrant Women in the Polish Labour Market and Society

Veronika Bajt, Mojca Pajnik, Studying Migration in Slovenia: The Need for Tracing Gender

ORDER FORM

You can order the book on www.wuj.pl